We have been successful in creating opportunities for the students to learn, play and enjoy their schooling. We just don't teach subjects rather the importance of living a life based on Concrete Human Values. We are focused on imparting education by creating opportunities for the students to question, learn, think and act.

This year across all classes we followed an Think Tank discussion model in line with the CCE model. This learning based approach provides the students with the opportunity to explore their creativity, team building and problem solving skills.

As every year this year too was filled with lot of activities and celebrations. We took care that we dint miss any opportunity for the students to explore new avenues of learning. Some of the highlights from this year:

Importance was given to moral and value education. We believe it's important for the students to acquire concrete life skills and moral values which will eventually mould the student's character.
