3. Describe the various ways to prevent religions domination by the Indian constitution.

[NCERT]

The various ways to prevent religious domination by the Indian constitution are:

(i) It uses a strategy of distancing itself from religion. The Indian state not ruled by a religious group, nor does it support any one religion.

(ii) Indian secularism works to prevent the domination of religion through a strategy of non interference. This means that in order to respect the sentiments of all religions and not interfere with religions practices the State makes certain exceptions for particular religious communities.

(iii) The third way in which Indian secularism works to prevent the domination of religion is through a strategy of intervention for examples; 'Untouchability'. In this case, the members of the same religion, i.e., upper caste Hindus dominate the lower caste within it, In order to prevent this religion based exclusion and discrimination of lower castes the Indian constitution bans untouchability.
