Lesson 3. Macavity: The Mystery Cat

Poetry

Soul of the Poem

The poem is a description of a villainous character, Macavity, a criminal who is so skilled in committing crime, that no one can ever find him. For whenever they reach the crime scene, he's not there.

Macavity is called the 'mystery cat' and the 'hidden paw' because he is a great criminal. He's defied many laws and has baffled the Scotland Yard and the Flying Squad.

The poet believes that there is no one like Macavity, for there is no rule open could think of that he has not broken. He has managed to challenges even the laws of nature, as he can float in the air without any support. One may look for him in the basement or in the sky, but one thing that is for sure is that he would never be found.

Macavity is also called the ginger cat. He is very tall and thin. It is not very difficult to recognise him, as he has very sunken eyes. His eyebrows are deeply lined because of constant plotting and strategising. He could also be recognised by sheer self-neglect. His coat is dusty and his whiskers are uncombed. He would move his head from side to side like a snake. And when you think he's sleeping, he's merely pretending. He is actually alert all the time.

There is just no one like Macavity. He is actually a devil inhabiting a cat's body. One may meet him here or there, but on the crime scene, he would never be there.

Stanzawise Explanation of The Poem

The Law.

He's the bafflement of Scotland Yard,

The flying Squad's despair :

For when they reach the scene of

Crime-Macavity's not there!

Reference :

The above lines have been taken from the poem, 'Macavity: The Mystery Cat', composed by the 20th century modernist poet, TS Eliot.

Context :

The poet highlights how Macavity is responsible for the bewilderment faced by the police.

Explanation :

Macavity is called a mystery cat. It is believed that he has a 'hidden paw' or a hidden foot which helps him in escaping the crime scene in no time. He is called a master criminal who has baffled the police, Scotland Yard and the Flying Squad. No matter when the police reaches the crime scene, Macavity has already fled.

Stanza 2

Macavity, Macavity, there's no one like Macavity,
He's broken every human law,
He breaks the law of gravity.
His powers of levitation would make a fakir
Stare,
And when you reach the scene of
Crime- Macavity's not there!
You may seek him in the basement
You may look up in the air,
But I tell you once and once again,
Macavity's not there!

Reference :

Same as above

Context :

The poet highlights the characteristics of Macavity.

Explanation :

The poet describes how there's no one like Macavity. He has broken each and every law. He has even broken the natural laws, like the law of gravity. It means that it was believed that he could float in the air without any support. Seeing him escape the crime scene, anybody would stare. Anyone could look for him in the sky or in the depths of the Earth, but Macavity cannot be found.

Stanza 3

Macavity's a ginger cat, he's very tall and thin;

You would know him if you saw him,

For his eyes are sunken in.

His brow is deeply lined with thought, his head

Is highly domed;

His coat is dusty from neglect, his whiskers are

Uncombed. He sways his head from side to side,

With movements like a snake;

And when you think he's half asleep he's always

Wide awake.

Reference :

Same as above

Context :

In these lines, the poet describes the appearance of Macavity.

Explanation :

In these lines, Macavity is called a ginger cat. He is unique in the way he looks and the way he does everything. He is tall and thin. He has sunken eyes. His eyebrows are deeply lined because of constant thinking, plotting and strategising. His head is highly domed. He doesn't take much care of his appearance and therefore his coat is always dusty and whiskers are uncombed. His head moves from side to side like the movements of a snake. Anybody could recognise him if they keep in mind these characteristics. Yet, he goes untraced the crime scene. This is so because he is also very clever and alert. When people think he is sleeping, he is merely pretending.

Stanza 4

Macavity, Macavity, there's no one like
Macavity, For he's a fiend in feline shape, a Monster of depravity.
You may meet him in a by street, you may see him in the square-
But when a crime's discovered then
Macavity's not there!

6. Having read the poem, try to guess whether the poet is fond of cats. If so, why does he call Macavity a fiend and monster?

It is possible that the poet is fond of cats. That could be the reason for the poet composing a poem detailing a cat. At the same time, the cat could be the poet's metaphor for talking about people who are morally deprived and criminals. Therefore, he uses the words fiend and monsters. Such people appear commonplace and ordinary, but trick others in no time.

7. Has the poet used exaggeration for special effect? Find a few examples of it and read those lines aloud.

Yes, exaggeration is a very helpful poetic device. The poet has employed this device in the following instances.
